> THE DOCK RECREATION CLUB.

The annual general meeting of the Kowloon Docks Recreation Club was held the other evening, when the following officehearers were elected for the ensuing year : - Wm. Stewart, Chairman; J. C. Gow, Secretary; R. Lapsley, Treasurer R. Brown, Librarian : with the following committee .- Messrs J. Hand, W. Davidson, J. Tully, W. Crawford, and J. Ramsay. The annual Dock dance, which has been held now for so many years that "the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, will take place on Hogmanay nicht just as usual, so that those who look forward to the annual hop will not be disappointed. The smaller dances which have been so popular during the past few sessons, are to be continued during the forthcoming cool weather, and with such a hard-working committee, with Mr Stewart at their head, Hongkong people may look forward to many enjoyable Saturday nights at the Docks.

FANCY DRESS BALL AT SHAMEEN.

(From Our Own Correspondent). SHAMEEN, November 26. Last night Mr Cunliffe Owen's Fancy Dress Ball took place. It's about three years since we had the last ball of this kind on the Shameen, so that last night's affair was somewhat of a novelty, but with Mr Conliffe Owen as host, success was assured from the first. The evening passed off with the greatest possible success, and the host has every reason to feel proud of the result of his generous hospitality, and gratified at the manner in which everyone fell in with his

The club theatre was decorated with really go d taste. Festoons of greenery hung from the ceiling to the pillars, and with the help of branches of bamboo the sides were transformed into arbours.

The guests were received by the host in the dress of an old English squire, and in this character his style of dress was well seconded by his gallantry, the kind of gallantry which we always associate with those old-time gentlemen especially.

As for the ladies' dresses it will be as well to follow the example set last night and refuse to say who excelled most in selecting and perfecting their role, as to give judgment on such a question is too difficult a task for the ordinary individual. The general effect was positively brilliant, but to go into details would take up an alarming amount

There were paysannes from several of the European countries and various other roles from different lands; there were also few symbolical dresses. The amount o artistic taste displayed was really admirable and most creditable to the ladies of the sailor, tinker, tailor." To draw comparisons is vile work; all were excellent, and the whole thing was a splendid success. May it not be three years before there is another of the same.

At a gathering in connection with the Union Church Literary Society, held last night the Rev. C. Bone gave an interesting lecture on "Buddhism in China: its monasteries, its priests, and its practices." The Rev. Archideacon Bannister presided and at the close an interesting exchange of opinions took place. The Rev. C. Hickling voiced the thanks of those present to the lecturer and the chairman.

AN INQUIRY ANSWERED. writes to inquire where Chamberlain's Cough Remedy can be procured. He says he has learned of the good effects resulting from its use, and as children in that locality are often subject to coughs, he desired to give it a trial. This remedy may be procured from any store or chemist. For coughs, colds and croup there is nothing better, and as it contains no injurious substance it can be given to the smallest child with perfect security. For sale by all chemists and storekeepers.

REVIEWS.

Round the Fire Stories, by ARTHUR CONA London, George Bell and

Forthose who like creepy or bizarrestorie this book is to be highly recommended. Si Arthur Conan Doyle has done batter work, of course, but seldom has be been more mysterious, more weird, or thrilling in the choice collection of stories which he has gathered together to be read "round the fire," Some of the tales are certainly hair-raising in their dieblerie, but one and all are told by master in the art of modern fiction, "The Leather Funnel," with which the volume opens, is perhaps the best of the bunch, though "The Club-footed Grocer" runs it pretty

The Studio, an illustrated Magazine of fine and applied art. London, 44, Leicester Square, W. C. Price one shilling.

The October number of the Studio is again remarkable for the beautiful pictures which it contains, and the very effective reproductions in colour of the works of a Dutch artist of a Japanese colourist of the 19th century, of a Morris tapestry, and a Morocco landscape. The opening article, which is very finely illustrated, deals most sympathetically TEL. ADDRESSES for above: 'IWASAKI.' with the life and work of Johann Barthold Joughind, an artist of great merit who was neglected and allowed to go mad and starve in life but came to his well deserved fame a few years after death. The next article deals with some examples of the beautiful tapest. ries designed by Sir E. Burne Jones and Mr J. H. Dearle and woven under the designs, "Flora," is illustrated in colours. It is a thing of great beauty and helps one to realise what wonderful things William Morris achieved when he revived an al. most forgotten art and applied to it the colours schemes and figure designs of his 816 own age. Mr Robert E. Groves gives a very alluring account of Morocco as a winter sketching ground. The articles on architectural gardening are continued. many very striking designs illustrating the text; while another article deals with Decorative Art at the Munich Exhibition. Sooth to say the very pronounced Teutonic stiffness discernible in all the designs pictured scarcely make the appeal to English eyes which the artists SUCTSMEN (Naval, Military, or Mem. bers of the Civil Community) desiring Kuniyasu's well-known colour-print "Girl in a Snowstorm" is well done, the dreamy, poetic effect of the criginal being success. No Scotsman can attend the Dance and poetic effect of the original being successfully achieved. Some very chatty Studio Talk, Art School notes and the list of awards in the studio prize competitions 1363 complete a very excellent number.

The Soul of Crasus, by G. VILLIERS STUART. London, T. Werner Laurie.

Standish Vandraken is a young American millionaire who inherits the most colossal fortune yet known on earth. Educated Harrow, finished off in an American University, he is a ripe product of his age. But he finds that money can't buy him everything. Like the meanest man alive he has to pay with a sore and aching head next day for the follies of an overnight debauch, while he soon perceives that other physical disabilities befal the man who wilfully pursues the path of dissipation. in occult arts, and discovers that for a consideration be can procure the soul and body of another man who will pay the penalties exacted from the debauchee, the infamous bargain, being able to go in for the wildest excesses and escape scot free. The unholy compact lasts for some time, Standish Vandraken indulging in the wildest debaucheries possible in this luxurious age, his alta ego paying for it all in the gradual wasting away of mental and physical powers. This unenviable Crossus at length falls in love with a pure and levely girl and the end of the story is not long in coming. It is tragic of course, in harmony with the general unpleasant scheme of the book. We cannot say that we liked it, despite all its cleverness

Betty Brent, Typist, by RITA. London, T. Werner Laurie. Betty Brent, the only child of a scientific investigator, at the death of her father is left with a small pittance to starve upon. With characteristic pluckiness she goes up to London and learns typewriting and shorthand; soon she makes quite a little success and one day is sent into the country by her firm to carry out some special work. In the handsome country house to which she goes she encounters too young noblemen, who were henceforth to dominate her life. They both fall in love with her, and one tries to compromise her and almost succeeds in his dishonourable scheme, but American, German, French and her good angel intervenes and she escapes. She leaves for London next day, where an illness overtakes her, and eventually per Share, will be payable at the Hong. she moots her former persecutor. This time he changes his tactics, proposes mar- on Warrants to be obtained at the Comriage, declares that he has thrown off his pany's Offices. former wild habits and intends to spend the remnant of his days as a reformed character—that is if Betty will take pity SORTH BRITISH AND MERCANTILE and marry him. Out of shear pity, nothing else, she consents and enters at once upon a life of misery. But ere the book closes relief comes for her, the despicable husband dies suddenly and the brave, quiet, strong man who had loved her all the time. comes by his own. Altogether a pleasant

Catherine's Child, by Mrs H. DE LA PAS-TURE. London, Geo. Bell and Sons. Mrs H. de Pasture can always be relied upon for a satisfactory story of the placid sort. In her present work she does not depart from her traditions and the result is eminently satisfactory for those who do not care for highly seasoned dishes when The Accumulated Funds of the Fire and sitting down to discuss a novel of English Life Departments are free from Hability in modern life. The play of maracler is as respect of each other.

MESSAGERIES MARITIMES. New Convention Signed by

French Government.

The French Government has signed a convention, with the Compagnic des Messa geries Maritimes for the exploitation of the regular lines of the Mediterranean, the Far East, Madagascar, Australia and the Atlantic, the agreement extending over period of twenty-five years.

The lines of the company are divided into two absolutely distinct groups—the contract domain, comprising the lines of general interests, in which case the conditions of service are regulated by the agreement, and the private domain which consists of the commercial lines exploited freely by the company. The State gives for the former lines a subsidy which can be revised within certain limits, according to the results obtained, so as to always correspond to real needs; it also guarantees the bonds which the company is authorised to issue covering the present capital value of the contract domain and the construction of future vessels for these lines. In exchange for these advantages, the State reserves the right of participating in the profits of the VALUABLE HOUSEHOLD subsidised lines and even, under cortain conditions and after payment of a part to shareholders, of the private lines. The TAPESTRY COVERED EASY CHAIRS, TEAR State thus becomes the partner of the company, and exercises a full right of control, but without restraining at all its LET TABLES, WASHSTANDS, ROLL TOP DESK, liberty of action,

This financial combination will enable the Messageries Maritimes to completely renew its fleet and work under more remunerative conditions. On the other hand, the annual subsidies arranged will allow the State to immediately save about a million francs, without taking into consideration its possible future participation

Among the various advantages secured by the State is the establishment of a monthly service between Marseilles and Indo-China, and increased speed on the principal lines as new ships are constructed. A system of pensions for the workmen employed at the company's dockyard and works at La Ciotat is also provided for.

THE ATTEMPT ON THE LIFE OF SIR A. FRASER.

A Calcutta telegram under date o November 9th says :-A dastardly attempt to assassinate Su Andrew Fraser, Lieut. Governor of Bengal took place on Saturday evening. Hi Honour had just entered the Y. M. C. A branch at Overtown hall, Capauk, where he was to preside at a lecture by professor Ernest De Witt Burton, of Chicago Uni versity, when a stalwart Bengali named J Roy Chowdhuri, dashed forward and thrusting a revolver into His Honour's face pulled the trigger twice. Fortunately the weapon missed fire, and before a third attempt could be made Mr B. R. Barber the Secretary of the branch sprang a Chowdhuri, who fought like a madma for freedom. In the meantime the Maharaja of Burdwan dragged Sir Andre into an ante-chamber. Chowdhuri wa eventual'y overpowered, and was lodged i jail. Mr Barber received a nasty gash or the head from the revolver. A stamped and confusion prevailed in the hall, which was densely crowded by the Bengali com munity. On order being restored, Si Andrew Fraser mounted the platform an was cheered to the echo for his coolness His Honour then opened the proceedings after the conclusion of which he left th hall with a special escort, cheer after chee greeting him from the crowd along th coute. This is the third attempt on th the 28th-instant, travelling via Caylon visit his son in Kandy. The motive assigned for the outrage His Honour's refusal to commute the ser tence of death on Satyendra Nath Bose, on of the assassins of the approver Gossai in the terrorist trails. Chowdhuri refuse to make a statement, saying that his hea is too puzzled.

Sir Andrew is in the best possible spirit and the greatest felicitations are pouring into his official residence as the result

The antecedents of Jetindra Nath Roy Chowdhuri who attempted to assassinate Sir Andrew Fraser are not yet fully known. He is a relative of Satyendra Nath Bose, one of the murderers of the approve Gossain. It is stated that he says he fully intended to kill the Lieut-Governor in order to avenge the death penalty passed on Bose, which the Lieut-Governor refused to commut. His house has been searched and many suspicious documents found. Ho is alleged to be a friend of the conspirators now being tried at Alipore. He is 18 years of age and is a second-year student at the General Assembly Institution.

The Prodigal's Return .- The prodigal 99, Queen's Road East, Wanchai, son approached the ancestral homestead with a considerable degree of pleasurable HONGKONG anticipation, only to be met afar off by his elder brother, who straightway lifted up DOCKS. me to inform you that, owing to the fact that he has but recently been invaded by a prodigal daughter and her titled and improverished husband, he does not at this time feel equal to the task of providing for you the reception you doubtless expect and probably deserve. However, he bids me request you to repair to one of the plain but serviceable restaurants in the village, and there sejonm until he can get the present incubuses, or incubi, as the case may be, off his hands, when, if there is anything left of the fatted calf and the other comestibles, he will be delighted to Jans Man Office, 5, Wyndham Street, share the same with you."

Annual Meeting of the Hongkong and China Branch.

The Hongkong and China Branch of the Room on Thursday evening, when there was a good attendance. Dr G. M. Harston, the President, presided, and in his address dealt with the work of the branch during the past year.

Dr J. H. Saunders, the hon secretary and treasurer, gave his annual report which showed that they had a membership of the parent association had been accumulating in the bank, and the council decided to invest the money in the purchase of the latest works of reference to enable local practitioners, as well as naval surgeons, to have an opportunity of referring them. With that end in view the council had secured a portion of an office, situated at No. 17a, Queen's Road Central, ber of the association, might refer to

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows:-Deputy-Inspector General W. Tait, M.B., President; Dr G. M. Harston, Vice-President; Dr J. H. Sanders, Hon. Secretary and Treasurer; and the following Council President, Vice-President; Hon. Secretary and Treasurer, Drs Stedman, Jordan and Atkinson, Staff-Surgeon Baiss, Naval Hospital, and Capt. Collingwood, R.A.M.C. ; library Committee: Dr Black, Major Probyn, R.A.M.C., and Staff-Surgeon Beednall, R.N.

Deputy, Inspector General Tait on being inducted to the chair gave his inaugural address as President, his subject being "The relation of the Naval Medical Service to the other Branches of the Pro-

Sir-Francis Lovell then brought the aims of the London School of Tropical Medicine, of which he is Dean, before the meeting. He drew special attention to the fact that no fewer than fifty medical practitioners in the treaty ports of China and in Hongkong had passed through the school since its establishment in 1899 and of that number six came from Hongkong. Any medical practitioner resident in a Colony like Hongkong, for instance—which subscribed H to the School had the privilege of going through a course at the School without the usual payment of fees. This privilege, Sir Francis pointed out, had not been taken advantage of up to the present in Hongk ng to the extent he would desire. however, that the contribution of the Colony was going to be renewed, he hoped the medical gentlemen of Hongkong would avail themselves of the opportunity afforded of a free course of tuition in tropical medicine. During his former visit to the Colony in 1902, a small committee was appointed consisting of Drs. Atkinson, Ho Kai and Rennie (the last named being the secretary), with power to add to their number, and the result of that action was that a sum of about $2,500 was collected. He would ask the members of the Association to be good enough to advise him as to what action was most likely to lead to the on R. Engineers ground at 2 p.m., on results he hoped to attain in connection with his present mission which was that of R. O. Hutchison (Captain.), R. C. Bar- raising a fund of at least £25,000 to assure thepermanence of the School and enable it to extend its sphere of operations. Out of the 150 members of the British Medical Association in Chira and Hongkong, fifty had passed through the School and they might materially help by bringing its aims and objects to the notice of the wealthy inhabitants of the cities in which they were located. It be held in Hongkong at which he might give an address. His experience of public meetings in the East had not been satisfactory, either in attendance or results. He from typewritten manuscript there was attributed this mainly to the fact that soon evidence of general restlessness. Anyit was very difficult to make the subject way, the speakers might have judged the of tropical medicine sufficiently interest-feeling of the gathering by the loud and ing to attract the general public. RETIRING FROM BUSINESS. The three questions that obtrude themselves at one time organother on the mind of every thoughtful man, are whence did I come; what can I do; where am I going? The first and last are speculative, the second practical. Past, present, and future, each has attractions, and one merges into the other almost imperceptibly, they join and yet are separated, and the junction between present and future is the more distinct parting of the ways. There comes a time when mental activity pauses: we reach the top of the hill, and cast our eyes back complacently (no man admits he is a failure) And then look forward into the valley of hai and Yokohama, returning via Kobe (Inland Sea) and Moji to Hongkong.

Past Forty and strive to pick out the providing a stay of 5 to 6 days in Japan if passengers leave the steamer at Yokohama. course of the shining river that leads to the sea we all know to be there behind the mist of uncertainty, but which we sanguinely place years away. To apply these abstractions to the life of the outdwellers from the homeland in this part of the world it is necessary to think of concrete instances. Coming out in the vigour and prime of youth there is at first disappointment at the slowness 755 of progress to that material competence which is the goal of most of us. "We are not out here for our health, but to make money" expresses crudely and imperfectly but faithfully the prevailing thought. Of ways of making money there are many-and of losing it; with health or at the expense of it. Likewise every man has his own idea of what constitutes a, competence. Rubber kings and merchant princes think of nothing less than a thousand pounds a year; professional men dream of enough to live on decently in Europe in comparison with their fellows; adding practice; civil servants have their savings and their pensions for income. Suppose we capitalise these into figures, bearing in mind the instances of the last twenty years, and say £30,000 as an average for the man of business; £20,000 for the professional man: £8,000 for the salaried man. These are not impossible figures, as the lists of "wills proved" show. The respective SPECIAL RATES (first class only) granted to Missionaries, Members of the Naval, | safe incomes from these will then read £900; £600; and £400 per annum. Canno these be legitimately considered "competences?' If there be any objection to the com pensionable workers, it is to be remembered that the bulk of it is as safe as the British Empire, while the traders have to leave most of their money in more or less speculative concerns, while professional men trust to bricks anmortar, lands and houses and mortgages also subject to depreciation in capital valu and earning power. However estimates of competency vary according to individua-1, at 9 a.m. live in if you have about £800 a year" we-1, at 9 a.m. | the remark of a business man-not a whole sale merchant but, subtle distinction, tradesman. "When I make my £400 a year safe I leave the place" is also an actual statement of one of our gone-home-for-goods.

> wealth as a means of power; middle-aged men think of living comfortably, with something for personal and domiciliary luxury, and enough to cultivate a hobby; over-the-brow men think first of absolute safety from the stress and worry of earning a living, and then of positive comfort with leisure to do the things that have been crowded out of the mercenary life with regret. There is material for further consideration in the question. Having secured your competence, what will you do with it? For the man who is able to retire under forty-five, undoubtedly the best thing is for him to seek the Homeland. It is a mighty wrench to break off with, say twenty years of your life in a place, with friends, associations, interests, and a liking for the climate. It is not easy for the man of forty-five to settle down in England, especially in a provincial town, where the only outlook is the village green, the only subjects of interest local politics; where there are long winter evenings and wet spring and summer days, with never a glimpse of sun. Though hard. it is not impossible, and the man of grit will not allow himself to vegetate, but will take an interest in things local, or cultivate his own hobby. What he has to guard against is doing nothing The common notion of the very easy life we lead in the tropics may suggest to friends at home slothful ease. The worst thing in the world, and no Easterner who is not prepared to do something vigorously should ever retire to the Home life. He will either die, or go into some business, and then where is his leisured ease? Most of them die, within a year or two, unless they do take up something. Like the cabhorse out of harness there is nothing to live for, se fish pleasure being a very unsatisfactory incentive. Some venturesome persons think of New Zealand, or Canada, or the life of a country gentleman. But the man who has spent most of his life in the tropics is in no mood to find another permanent home elsewhere than at home. It is too much like starting life over again, if you have a family; or if you haven't relatives in the new country. Life in country gentle-dom is all good, if you have the means and the persaverance to make your way such distance into provincial society as is necessary so make life pleasant. Otherwise you might just as well be a country gentleman in There is another place of retirement; for those who have outgrown or outlived home bies, who fear the rigours of winter, or the isolation of town life in Europe, and that is the Straits Settlements. The Singapore merchant should retire to Malacca or Kuala Lumpor, the Penaugite to Singapore, Malacca to the Province, Ipoh to but there is no need to mention any place fo the Ipoh-ites. Those who live make their fortunes young. Or don't, when there is no need to think of a place of retirement Seriously, for many mon who have spent the greater part of their lives out East. there are many worse places to retire to than another part of the Colony, and the virtues thereof I shall withhold for another Wi M. in the

HOW TO DO MORE BUSINESS. MAANY AMERICANS have pull up IVI great commercial enterprises, by the use of Trade-news items supplied by our CLIPPING BUREAU: Chinese merchants can do the same if they follow American methods. We clip business news from more than 50,000 papers monthly, and send these items to you while there is good prospect of supplying what is needed and doing

We can send you news and elippings on any line of business, or any subject, and you will be able to know, IN TRUTH, just what American business methods are like. and where there are openings for Chinese

Suppose, for instance, you are a maker of Pottery: our Clipping Bureau might find in some paper an item saying that a big wholesale Pottery concern was being organized in a certain town :- we, of course, would send you that business-news

We can do just the same in any line of business, for there is always something being on that it might pay Chinese merchants to know.

We can supply you with advertisements of all the great American merchants and manufacturers, so that you may assimilate their ideas and increase your business in China the way we do here. To avoid delay, send ten dollars (Mex.)

5, WYNDRAM STRUKT HONGKONG.

It is said that the Emperor of China ere he passed away left a document indicating his wishes in regard to the future government of China. His prayer was that there should be a Council of twelve men, whom Prince Chun should consult ere taking any final course. To this Council he suggested that Viceroy Tuan, of the Two Kiangs, be called and also Viceroy Chang of the Two Kwangs. The consequence of the Emperor's dying legacy is that frequent secret telegrams are passing between Peking and the Canton Vicercy, and it is stated that presently he will leave Canton and proceed to the capital. This will perhaps explain why he sent two subordinates, on whom he could rely, to Peking to watch the trend of political events. These men were to report to him direct. It is reported, further, that the mourning ceremonies have taken such a hold upon the Vicercy that he has been taken ill and is unable to see his subordinates. He appears to have taken a sincere part in the coromonies, and it is said that his grief is real and his tears genuine. At any rate all perious matters must now be placed) efore him by his own private secretary, who in turn will pass on the great man's decisions to the parties interested.

WEATHER REPORT.

The following notice is issued by Mr. Figg of the Hengkong Observatory :--On the 27th at 11.55, a .- A further fall of the mercury has recurred over the Philippines, owing to the approach of a typhoon which appears to be situated to the S.E. of Luzon and to be moving in a

Westerly direction. The depresson which was crossing the Sea of Japan yesterday has deepened considerably. It is now moving Eastwards over Hokkaido. Pressure has increased considerably over

China, the anticyclonic area remaining over the Continent to the North of the Upper Yangtze. Gradients are steep generally, and strong N. and N.E. gales will prevail in the Formosa Channel and the N. part of the China Sea. Hongkong rainfall for the 24 hours ending at 10 a.m. to-day, 0.00 inches. Forecast for the 24 hours ending at noon to morrow.

FORECAST DISTRICT. 1.-Hongkong and Neighbourhood: N. and N. E. winds, strong; fine.

2.—Formosa Channel: N.E. gale. 3.—South coast of China between Hongkong and Lamocks; N.E. winds, strong to a gale.

4.—South coast of China between Hongkong and Hainan; Same as No. 2.

"I THOUGHT I WOULD HAVE FAINTED!" HER STATE OF ACUTE ANAMIA CURED BY. DR WILLIAMS' PINK

INVERY gentlewoman in 11 society regards the occasion of her attending at Court as one of the most pleasurable vet nerve-racking occasions in her career. An interesting description of the ordeal was kindly iven by Miss Theresa Sheridan a few days ago, when referred to her attendance at Court. Miss Sheridan is wellknown as the daughter of the late Henry Brinsley herican, M.P. for Dudley for many years, whose name is revered by all smokers, he being instrumental in securing the privilege they now enjoy of smoking compartments on all railway trains.

When she kindly granted an interview to a London journalist at her residence, Welbeck Court, Kensington, Miss Sheridan presented a profect type of the healthy handsome English lady of society, but it was quickly made apparent by her remarks that for some time until lately her health had caused her and

PROFESSIONAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

DR. W. R. LAMB, AMERICAN OCULIST AND OPTICIAN.

No. 11, King Edward Hotel

TAS the pleasure of announcing his return to Hongkong where he will remain until DECEMBER 11 He has all the latest and best instruments and apparatus for thoroughly examining and reflecting the eyes according to the approved and modern methods as employed in the metropolitan eye hospitals, and has the largest supply and greatest variety of the nestest kinds and styles of mountings and lonses of the best quality ever brought to this Colony, including several thousand different compressed and prismatic lenses made specially to order for the correction of astigmatism and other abnormal conditions of refraction, which the ordinary lenses will not correct. His facilities for attending those in need of his services are equal in every respect to the best obtainable anywhere abroad. Those who are troubled with weak or defective vision, who suffer from eyeache, headache, in the orbital region, inflamation of the eyes, or weakness of the oculmuscles, or any of the numerous conditions due to eyestrain and necessitating the use of glasses and most of these troubles are permanently cured by accurate refraction and properly adjusted glasses would do well to avail themselves of the present exceptional opportunity and have their eyes perfectly examined and inspected and obtain glasses of the right kind. There are hundreds, if not thousands, here, having defective eight, who have never had their eyes properly examined by a qualified dentist, and who are using glasses which at least in nine cases out of ten are quite unsuitable, and which no only fail to bring the vision to the high at possible standard in the eyes are often much strained and the vision seriously and often permanently impaired. If the eyes are in need of attention they should receive it now.

Dr Lamb is certificated in Optics as well as medicine; he has had over twenty years professional experience so that all glasses he supplies to his patients are warranted to be correct. He has thousands of references and testimonials from influential citizens of several British Colonies which he has visited frequently, and can assure those in need of his services here, the most thorough, reliable and satisfactory professional work. Charges reasonable and consultation free.

Hours: 9 to 12 a.m. and from 2 to 5 p.m. daily. Bongkone, November 27, 1908.
